

MARTIAL LAW FACES STRIKE-HARASSED FLINT; NO AGREEMENT

Peace Conferences Headed For a "Recess" and Probably A Breakdown

TO SUSPEND PARLEYS

General Motors Won't Agree To Recognize Union As Sole Bargaining Agency

DETROIT, Feb. 8.—(INS)—Possibility of martial law faced strike-harassed Flint today as the presidentially directed peace conferences in Detroit headed for a "recess" and probably a "breakdown."

A spokesman for Gov. Frank Murphy said representatives of General Motors and the United Auto Workers may suspend strike negotiations after a brief meeting today, and added:

"The suspension would be a recess and both sides would be subject to recall. It does not mean negotiations have collapsed."

William S. Knudsen, GMC executive vice-president, has served an ultimatum nevertheless he would not retreat from GM's original position on union recognition. It was reliably learned. Recognition of the UAW as the sole collective bargaining agency in 20 "struck" plants was the rock upon which the hopes of Gov. Murphy to end the strike were split.

Shortly after the conference here started last Wednesday with arrival of John L. Lewis, strike strategist, General Motors started moving the legal machinery designed to evict sit-down strikers from two Fisher body plants in Flint. Today, GM attorneys were prepared to go into court for another evacuation injunction which would call for eviction of sit-downers in Chevrolet Plant No. 4 there.

With Gov. Murphy reported to have told his advisers he remains determined not to use the militia to evict sit-down strikers, observers saw possibility of martial law being declared. Under such action, all activities, legal and police would be under control of the military.

The Court orders calling for arrest of 15 union leaders and arrest of Fisher body sit-downers remained unserved today in Sheriff Thomas Wolcott's hands. He reiterated he would not take action until Gov. Murphy replies to his request for the nearly 4,000 National Guardsmen there to carry out eviction.

Gov. Murphy is reported to have declared he is convinced the sit-down crews would not leave at his request. After GM secured its evacuation injunction the strikers warned they were prepared to die if armed force was used. Later some of them said they would quit the plants if the Governor requested it.

The Governor heard a report last night attempts may be made to impeach him for not aiding Sheriff Wolcott to carry out the Court order. "It is futile for anyone to attempt to intimidate or coerce me," he said. "It can't be done."

PRISON SUPERVISOR TO ADDRESS FATHERS HERE

Dr. E. Preston Sharp, Supervisor of Rehabilitation at Eastern 'Pen,' to Speak

INVITE THE PUBLIC

Word has just been received that Dr. E. Preston Sharp, supervisor of rehabilitation at the Eastern State Penitentiary, Philadelphia, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Fathers' Association, which will be held at the high school on Thursday evening.

Dr. Sharp is an authority in the field of restoring men convicted of crime to positions of decency and self-respect in the community. His work consists primarily in discovering the abilities of men committed to the prison and then endeavoring to find for each his proper place of usefulness in the prison community. In this way, when the prisoner has served his sentence, he goes out into the world better equipped to earn an honest living and to lead the life of a good citizen. Through his years of experience Dr. Sharp has come into intimate contact with thousands of condemned men. He has at his command an inexhaustible wealth of experience and an unusual grasp and understanding of this very grave problem. "What Shall Become of the Ex-Convict?"

Because Dr. Sharp's address will undoubtedly prove of great interest to men throughout Bristol, the Fathers' Association has extended to all men of Bristol and its environs an invitation to hear him.

David L. Hertzler, principal of the high school, on behalf of the athletic association, has extended an invitation to members of the Fathers' Association to attend the basketball game with Frenchtown, which will also be played Thursday night. Free admission to the game in response to this invitation must necessarily be limited to members of the association presenting their membership cards.

Trooper Goes On Trial

Somerset, Feb. 8.—State Trooper Stacey Gunderman of Hollidaysburg went on trial here today as the first of the twelve defendants in the Fayette County "third degree" murder case.

"Not guilty," Gunderman replied when the indictment charging him with murder in the death of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, a Uniontown hotel keeper, was read to him, by the court clerk. Placing Gunderman on trial was a surprise provided by Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, the special prosecutor. It had been indicated that District Attorney James A. Rilly, of Fayette County, would be first to be placed on trial.

Selection of the jury began under the direction of Supreme Court Justice George W. Maxey, of Scranton. The tiny court room was jammed to capacity with witnesses and newspapermen as the case opened.

Margiotti announced that he would press the seven murder charges first, leaving the cases against the other five defendants accused of attempting to "cover up" Monaghan, in abeyance.

Attorney John H. Duggan, Jr., chief of the defense counsel at once moved for severance for separate trials and it was granted by Justice Maxey.

Supreme Court Justice Presides at Trial

Somerset, Pa., Feb. 8.—For the first time in 68 years a State Supreme Court Justice, George W. Maxey, of Scranton, presided at a criminal court trial in the lower court in which a charge of venue was granted, records revealed today as the "third degree" case opened here. It was also the first time that a Supreme Court justice and the Attorney General of Pennsylvania appeared together on a case. Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti is special prosecutor against the twelve "third degree" defendants.

Three Commit Suicide

REVIEW OF JANUARY NEWS' HIGH LIGHTS

By International News Service

Raging flood waters swirling relentlessly across thirteen states furnished January with its news high-spot. Worst winter flood in history, this new national disaster climaxed a month which saw kidnapped Charles Matson found murdered, General Motors paralyzed by strikes, President Roosevelt begin his second term and many other important front-page developments.

More than half a million persons were driven from their homes in the flood area, with the Ohio River Valley the worst sufferer. Scores were drowned or killed in rescue work which wrote new epics in heroism. Property damage ran into the hundreds of millions.

Cincinnati, O., and Louisville, Ky., were the hardest hit. A dozen other cities, too, fought the horror of swollen rivers, bringing privation, famine and pestilence on their crests.

Government agencies were placed on a 24-hour wartime basis to aid sufferers, with the Red Cross bearing the brunt of relief work. National guardsmen patrolled stricken areas, with orders to shoot looters on sight. Coastguardsmen were rushed from seaboard points with their boats. Evacuation of the marooned was carried out at a score of points under the most harrowing circumstances.

While governmental and private agencies fought desperately to hold the Mississippi and other rivers in check, the Ohio rose to a new all-time crest of almost 78 feet, exceeding the previous record by more than seven feet.

Cincinnati battled not only rising waters but one of the worst fires in its history. Flames 300 feet high lighted the city's industrial district when oil tanks toppled in the torrent. Damage exceeded $1,500,000.

More than 30 square miles of Louisville was awash as authorities ordered women and children to evacuate the city. At nearby Frankfort, convicts rioted in the flooded state prison, with more than a dozen killed.

Residents of Portsmouth, O., found their new million-dollar flood wall inadequate to resist the pressure of pounding waters. They flooded the city to save the wall.

United States Army engineers were obliged to use armed force to dynamite a levee to save Cairo, Ill., from destruction. Farmers with shotguns and rifles threatened mimic war to save their homesteads from compulsory inundation.

The flood struck the whole mid-west when bitter strife was being waged in the automobile industry. Frequent rioting occurred as plant after plant of the giant General Motors Corporation was closed down. Sit-down strikers occupied many of them, the company steadfastly refusing to resume peace negotiations until every plant was cleared.

Government officials, headed by

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, made futile efforts to bring peace, and the month dragged to a close with new repercussions threatened.

John L. Lewis, mine workers' leader and chairman of the powerful Committee for Industrial Organization, boldly asked President Roosevelt to intervene, openly declaring he owed a debt to labor for its support in the last campaign.

The president, permitting direct quotation, bluntly refused. His statement was interpreted in Washington as a rebuke to the fiery labor leader.

Combined efforts of federal, state and local police failed to unearth a single clue to the bearded kidnapper of the ten-year-old Matson boy. The greatest man-hunt in the history of the northwest was progressing when the lad's battered body was found in underbrush near Everett, Wash. Only two weeks before, he had been stolen from his home in Tacoma while a children's party was in progress.

President Roosevelt ordered a relentless search for the murderer. The government posted a $10,000 reward.

The President's usual good luck on the weather did not hold for his inauguration. It rained in torrents. That did not prevent him from standing bareheaded to tell the nation the New Deal would be continued. He warned it was the government's duty to add to the plenty of those who

Shirley Sings, Talks Chinese in "Stowaway"

Romantic as the radiant Chinese moon, and as glamorous with its surrounding company of great stars, teeming with danger, excitement, thrills, war-lord bandits, and Shirley Temple as a little waif who talks and sings Chinese, "Stowaway" comes tonight and Tuesday to the Grand Theatre.

As Ching-Ching, adopted daughter of a missionary couple killed in a rebel raid, Shirley is picked up by Robert Young, a carefree young millionaire who is touring the world in a vain attempt to get away from himself. Shirley, accidentally stowing away in Young's car on a cruise ship, is instrumental in his meeting Alice Faye, pretty fiancée of stuffy young Allan Lane.

While waiting for Allan to join her at Hong Kong, Alice tours the town with Young and his little protégé, all of them having a glorious lark, which culminates in Shirley's winning a prize in a Chinese amateur show, singing in the native language.

Allan then appears to claim his bride-to-be, but they part in a fierce quarrel. Meanwhile Young is told by Chinese authorities that he cannot adopt Shirley, being unmarried, and must put her in a local orphanage. Determined not to part from her, he proposes to Alice that she become his wife in name only, then proceed to Reno for a divorce. This she does, but Young, realizing he is really in love with her, follows her to Reno and, with Shirley's artful aid, wins her consent to stay married.

WILL RESIDE HERE

Miss Anne Messina, daughter of Mrs. C. Messina, Morrisville, and William L. Daniels, son of Mrs. Jennie Daniels, 806 Jefferson avenue, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of the bride. The ceremony, performed by Justice of the Peace Kunsman, Morrisville, took place amid palms and cut flowers which decorated the living room. Attending the couple were Miss Lena Messina, sister of the bride, and William Zimmerman, 66 Jefferson avenue, a nephew of the groom.

The bride was attractive in a gown of white satin, made on close-fitting lines. The bodice was sleeveless and featured the cowl-shaped neckline, trimmed with white artificial flowers. With this was worn a three-quarter length jacket of lace and satin, fashioned with a high standing collar, and long, tight sleeves. A train fell from the waistline. She wore a bridal veil of tulle, with a crown-shaped headpiece, white satin sandals and carried calla lilies. The bridesmaid was attired in tea-rose taffeta gown fashioned Colonial style with short puffed sleeves and long skirt with short train. A large off-the-face model, light blue felt hat, and blue slippers completed her outfit; and she carried tea roses. A family dinner was served at the bride's home. The couple left for a week-end trip. Mr. and Mrs. Daniels will reside with Mr. Daniels' mother.

Fire Destroys Blacksmith Shop and Garage on Sunday

LANGHORNE, Feb. 8.—Fire yesterday noon destroyed the blacksmith shop and garage of Michael McShane, on the Parkland-Hulmeville Road, Middletown Township.

The entire building was destroyed, as was likewise an automobile housed therein. The fire had gained such headway when firemen arrived that the building was beyond saving.

The structure, measuring approximately 25 by 18 feet, was one story in height. The automobile in the garage was owned by Samuel DeSantis, who came from Ohio a short time ago. The car, valued at $300, was a sedan.

The fire, discovered by a neighbor, was believed to have started from a small fire near the building, where McShane was burning the woodwork from old pieces of iron.

No insurance was carried on the automobile, the building or contents. Fire companies from this borough, South Langhorne and Hulmeville responded.

LIST 27 NEW CASES, AS COURT OPENS AT DOYLESTOWN TODAY

Erwin F. Miller, Coopersburg Farmer, is Foreman of Grand Jury

A VARIETY OF CASES

Thirteen Defendants Charged With Drunken Driving This Term

DOYLESTOWN, Feb. 8.—The February term of Criminal Court of Bucks County opened this morning. Twelve continued cases, 27 new cases and 17 miscellaneous cases have come up at the present term.

The Grand Jury met today and was charged by president Judge Hiram K. Keller. He appointed Erwin F. Miller, a Coopersburg farmer, as foreman of the Grand Jury. The Traverse Jury will not meet until next Monday when jury trials will get under way. Owing to the short number of trials the jury was only drawn for one week.

There were 13 defendants charged with drunken driving. As usual drunken driving had the most offenses. Two plead guilty cases were disposed of in court this morning.

Warren Kilmer, of Pipersville, made his fourth appearance in court today charged with stealing chickens. He pleaded guilty before Judge Calvin S. Boyer, and was sentenced from six months to five years in the Bucks County Prison and directed to pay one-third of the costs.

There were two other defendants charged with stealing chickens. Albert Worman, Erwinna, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to from 3 months to three years in Bucks County Prison. Nicholas Hayes, also of Erwinna, pleaded guilty to the same offense. Sentence was suspended and he was placed under probation for one year with County Detective Anthony Russo as probation officer. The three men pleaded guilty of stealing chickens from a Pipersville farmer, C. Jones, and then sold them to a hotel at Pipersville in order to get money to buy booze. Judge Boyer very severely censured the two older men, Worman and Kilmer. Hayes, who was only 19, was evidently under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

William H. Frable, Passer, Bucks County, pleaded guilty to violation of the liquor law before Judges Keller and Boyer, and sentence was suspended on condition that he pay the costs. Frable said his place was raided by State Liquor Control Board agents last December 12, who found a gallon of moonshine whiskey in the barn. Frable said that was what he received for helping a strange motorist out of a ditch, and that he never used it to sell and he intended to put it in the radiator of his truck. Judge Boyer said the story sounded like a fairy tale, but he suspended sentence on condition that he pay the costs.

Miss Douglass' Demise Shocks Her Friends

The "going home to Life Eternal" of Miss Deborah S. Douglass, daughter of the late Thomas Breck and Emma Wilson Douglass, Saturday evening, came as a great shock to her family and friends. Miss Douglass had been a resident of Bristol for 75 years.

While Miss Douglass had not been in vigorous health for some time, yet her passing away apparently was not imminent. Miss Douglass had a wide acquaintance in Bristol, and for a period of more than 30 years during her life-time was interested in the religious activities of the Bristol Methodist Church. For many years she taught in the Sunday School, and was a member of the church choir. Her pleasing voice inspired many other worshippers who delighted to hear her rendition of the Methodist hymns, which were so popular at that time.

The deceased is survived by her sisters, Mrs. Belle D. Ancker, Mrs. Mary D. DuHamel, Bristol; and Mrs. Emma D. Sickles, Trenton, N. J.

The funeral will take place from her late residence, 807 Radcliffe street, Wednesday at two p. m. Friends may call Tuesday evening.

ALMOST NOTHING NEW

There seems to be next to nothing new under the sun. Long ago we knew that the Emperor Diocletian (who reigned from 284 to 305 A. D.) had a New Deal incorporating most of our 1933-37 features. Now we learn that Roman debutantes and matrons had permanent waves.

Dr. Karl L. H. Lehman, Hartlebe, eminent German archeologist who told about the Roman permanent waves in a lecture, noted this difference: The Roman girls and women had no movie stars to whom they might look for hairdressing styles. So they looked at the picture of their current empress, reproduced on coins, and had their hair fixed along imperial lines. And then, as our slightly cynical reporter suggested, "the coins wound up in the hairdressers' tills."

There was something else in the report of the German savant's lecture to remind us that there is little new under the sun. Dr. Lehman-Hartleben, one of Germany's foremost archeologists, is an exile from his native land because of Nazi persecution of "non-Aryans." There is nothing new about bigotry, fanaticism, race hatred. Old, vicious scenes in the long drama of world history are being re-enacted in Germany.

CHANGED BALL PLAYERS

Lamenting the loss of color in our national pastime, Tris Speaker blames the umpiring. He says that baseball's official side has gone soft on us.

While our first urge is to indorse any harsh judgment on such a subject, we believe the facts are against Mr. Speaker's premise, if not his conclusion. He has mistaken effect for cause. Were it otherwise, today's National League would not include the Gas-House Gang, a club with an abundance of color, and the Giants, a team notably devoid of the same elusive substance.

In baseball's golden age, the typical recruit was "Joe Bush." Battling the umpire was part of his gospel, along with frequenting pool halls and eating two double-steak sandwiches before bedtime.

In modern baseball the familiar type is "Joe College." He has been reared in a hot house environment. Umpire baiting is as repugnant to his nature as would be the more intimate and unconventional relationship that obtained between player and public in the old days.

Hence the umpiring has simply kept pace with a fundamental change in personnel. Even so, we do not see eye-to-eye with Mr. Speaker in his assumption that in baseball "color" and "fight" are synonymous. We agree that many of the colorful ball players of yesterday were ready to battle the umpire at the drop of a hat. But their belligerence was simply an added heritage from a school in which they acquired an unorthodox, and therefore pleasing, technique.

Hal Chase is recalled because he could gather in a pop fly with more gusto than today's first baseman displays in cutting off a hit, but who now remembers whether Chase rated umpires among the lower forms of life?

After all, the years have taken the edge from Judge Landis' fire and precocity. Even the January weather is changing. We shouldn't expect too much of umpires.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

By Courier Staff Member

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol, Aug. 5, 1875. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Yesterday afternoon the clam bake, and sack and tub races, under the able management of Mr. S. C. Bruden, came off on the island, and were much enjoyed by the two or three hundred persons who were present. The rain kept back a large number of persons who would otherwise have been present; but the boys had a jolly good time in spite of the tempestuous weather. The first tub race was participated in by John Wright and Frank Jolly. Jolly came out ahead by about 20 yards. The second race was participated in by Jolly and Wright of Bristol, and Mooney of Burlington. Mooney proved victorious and carried off the prize—75c. The next item on the program was a sack race. The following persons competed for the prize—a fine meerschaum pipe and case: A. K. Joyce, John Wright, John Ahlee, Walter Bache, Frank Winder, Mooney, Jacob Poole, M. Flynn and Frank Jolly. The race was won by Ahlee, who came out about 15 yards ahead of Tony Joyce, who was his nearest competitor. . . . The festivities of the day were concluded about six o'clock, and the crowd dispersed well pleased with the entertainment afforded them. The next clam bake will be a clam chowder, and is expected to be given in about two weeks.

An addition is being made to the school house on Wood street.

Work has been commenced on the building for the America Hose, Hook and Ladder Company.

The street main of the Bristol Water Company is being extended on Radcliffe street to the junction of Jefferson avenue.

Miss Amelia Merriam, of Boston, Mass., a lady of unusual ability and success as a teacher, will open a young ladies boarding and day school in Bristol, in September next. Miss Merriam comes with the highest references and testimonials. Is thoroughly educated, and highly accomplished, and with the co-operation of our citizens, will establish a school that will doubtless be well worthy of patronage.

The machinery for the new rolling mill has mostly arrived, the boilers for the engine coming yesterday. The engine is of 125-horse power; the fly-wheel of which weighs nearly 16,000 pounds. The machinery will be placed in position as rapidly as possible. The building is about completed, but considerable filling up remains yet to be done. The roof is covered with Egyptian roofing.

The Friends day school for girls and boys will commence its first session in the new building on Cedar street on the 14th of September next. The committee have been fortunate in securing the services as president of E. S. Woolson, a graduate of Swarthmore College, who comes with the highest testimonials from its president, E. H. Magill. Her instruction, combined with that of competent assistants, cannot fail to make the school a first class institution.

HULMEVILLE—The school directors of Bensalem Township proposed building a new school house at Flushing.

The excursion to Fairmount Park from this section on the 19th instant, starting from Bristol, bids fair to be a very large one. Many schools will participate, and many who are not connected with Sunday Schools will also go.

WARMINSTER—While Watson W. Wood was at market on Friday last, one of his horses tied in the stable broke a limb in trying to extricate himself. He was killed and buried before Mr. Wood's return.

The following teachers have been appointed for the three Warmminster schools: Miss Sallie Cooper, Willow Dale; Miss Lizzie Hampton, Oak Grove, and Miss White, for Prospect Hill.

EDDINGTON—A writer in the Frankford "Gazette" says: "Paying a visit to Eddington a few days ago, we were surprised at the improved condition of matters along the river front, to what was the case of a former visit. To the enterprising spirit of Messrs. Thomas and Vandegrift is this change due, and we doubt not that success in business will crown their efforts. Their lumber yard is well supplied with stock, and additions are constantly being made. Near to the office of C. S. Vandegrift is having built a handsome frame residence, in the Gothic style of architecture. . . ."

DOYLESTOWN—The Doylestown Cemetery Company are going to erect a fountain in the circle in the center of their grounds.

Judge Watson, who has been building a dwelling house, gave to the honor of all persons who helped to erect the building, a very bountiful supper.

Three Said To Admit Robbing Four Places

Household goods were stolen from the Deck premises, when it was entered last December.

They stole for food they said. For bread to feed 11 hungry mouths—their brothers and sisters.

Edward Mitchell, 19, gripped the bars in his cell and pleaded: "We were hungry."

His brother, Harry, 17, echoed: "There wasn't enough to eat in our house."

Their half-brother, Emmett Purcell, 22, said their father is a WPA worker and he "don't make enough to buy cats for all of us."

In addition, the trio is charged with breaking into the roadside stand of Gordon S. Brown, on Bethlehem pike near Sellersville, a year ago, and stealing all the food, dishes and cooking equipment in the place.

enne, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon in St. Ann's Catholic Church, with the Rev. Marcelino Romarno, officiating. Miss Frances Tamburella, Dorrance street, played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bride party entered the church, and Mrs. Anthony Russo sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride was attended by Miss Mary Pico, 323 Penn street, as maid of honor; Miss Anna Mannochei, 1025 Wood street, and Miss Angeline Mauro, sister of the bride, 325 Penn street, as bridesmaids. The best man was Emidio Pezzullo, Jefferson avenue, and the usher was John DeFelice, Lincoln avenue.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin. The long skirt had a train. The bridal veil of tulle edged with lace, had a lace cap with a band of satin and trimmed with orange blossoms. She wore white satin sandals and carried lilies.

The attendants were dressed alike in peach tone taffeta. They wore peach satin sandals, tulie turbans with face veils, and carried bouquets of roses the tone of their gowns.

A reception was held at Asta's Hall. The couple left last evening for several days' stay in New York City. They will reside at the home of the bride.

Seventeen men, including Karl Radek, former Washington correspondent and former editor of Izvestia, pleaded guilty to conspiracy in Moscow. Royal romance flourished again when Crown Princess Juliana of Holland became the bride of Prince Bernhard zu Lippe-Biesterfeld of Germany. All the Netherlands made merry.

The Duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII, and his fiancée, Mrs. Wallace Warfield Simpson, slipped from the limelight. He remained in seclusion near Vienna while she continued her visit at Cannes.

Special messages to Congress by the President marked routine activities in Washington. One asked thorough reorganization of the government's administrative departments.

Another urged a $790,000,000 deficiency appropriation to provide winter work for 2,580,000 persons. This meant a decrease of $80,000 under those getting relief pay last March.

A national income of $67,000,000,000 this year was estimated by the Department of Commerce. This would be $7,000,000,000 more than last year. The record was $78,000,000,000 in 1929.

The bathtub murder of Mrs. Mary Harriet Case, 25, in her Jackson

Heights, N. Y., apartment, attracted considerable attention. Major Green, 33-year-old negro attendant in the building, confessed, giving robbery as the motive. He was threatened with lynching by a mob, mostly composed of women, as he was taken to jail.

A celebrated New England case terminated with the abrupt acquittal of Robert Simpson, 23, swing band leader, charged with the murder last July of his 17-year-old sweetheart, Ellen Sullivan. The state charged the girl jumped to her death from a New London casino after a criminal assault.

Other events furnished lively headlines. Howard Hughes, movie producer, flew non-stop from Los Angeles to New York for a new record of 7 hours, 28 minutes, averaging 332 miles an hour. Governor Lehman prevented a mass execution in New York when he commuted to life the sentences of four of six men condemned to die for a hold-up murder. Grippe, pneumonia and influenza prevailed as warm, rainy weather remained in northern climes. Sunny California suffered heavy crop losses in the coldest winter since 1922. A Washington butler was arrested charged with a $300,000 gem robbery, and police sought to lay other thefts at his door. Chelan, Wash., gave the Townsend old age plan a practical test, giving $200 to a couple for a month's test.

After a bitter Republican dispute, the New York State assembly elected Oswald D. Heck as its speaker. The New Jersey legislature was not peaceful either, election of William C. Then, while the storm beat down, he rode to the White House in an open car with Mrs. Roosevelt.

"If the people can take it," he said, "We can too."

A few days before Mr. Roosevelt had delivered his address on the "State of the Union" to a new Congress. He frankly opposed any constitutional changes, but he directed a thinly-veiled warning to the United States Supreme Court the people expected it to render its decision in the light of changing times.

BRISTOL HOCKEY TEAM BEATS BURLINGTON, 2-1

Friday night, the Bristol Roller Hockey Club ventured to the Croydon skating rink to meet the Burlington team. In a closely-fought extra period game, the local boys returned the victors.

Norris O'Boyle, Bill Ritter and Red Strong were the main obstacles of the Burlington on the offensive end, while George Ritter, George Goslin, Sam Leeper and Ed Jefferies took charge of the offensive work.

After ten minutes of the first half, Chet Lawrence, of the Jerseys, scored the first one. This goal had the Bristol lads worried for the remainder of the first half. Shot after shot went wide of the goal for the localites during the opening period. The second half opened with the homeboys greatly freshened and high spirited. Although shooting often and straight, the Bristol boys had a great obstacle in Lawrence, the goalie for the Burlington, who was considered the best goalie in the Eastern Hockey League in 1931. In spite of his great defensive game, the Bristol boys scored after many minutes of the second half. This goal was scored by George Ritter. Although trying time and time again, the home-town club could not score again during the second half. The game ended, Bristol, 1; Burlington, 1.

It was decided by both teams to play a five-minute extra period. This resulted in five extra-played minutes. With two minutes extra to go in this period, Bill Ritter saved the game for the Reds, scoring the final goal of the game. This ended the game with the score standing: Bristol, 2; Burlington, 1.

Authorities examined a man's scarf found at the scene of the crime, hairs found clutched in the dead girl's hand and on the scarf, a wilt of wool taken from under the girl's fingernails and human hair found on the imitation fur coat she wore when accosted by a man in an attempted criminal assault that took her life. The pocket-knife with which she was stabbed also took attention. Thirty thousand are to be questioned in the case.
